

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 22 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Brightening up from the west today, rain spreading east tomorrow.

Today:

Sunny spells and scattered showers for Scotland and Northern Ireland. England and Wales starting rather cloudy but brightening up from the west later. Also a few showers, mainly in the west this morning and east later. Less windy than yesterday.

Tonight:

Early evening showers becoming confined to Irish Sea coastal counties and southwest England and a chilly end to the day. Clear spells overnight, but rain into Northern Ireland by dawn.

Sunday:

Early cloud and rain, heavy at times, over Northern Ireland spreading eastwards reaching all but the far north and east by evening. Showers following into the west. Turning windy.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:

An unsettled, cool start to the week with showers or longer spells of rain, heavy in places. Starting to turn drier and a little warmer from the west during midweek.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.